Richard Aviles

10/06/17

Weekly Individual Report

This week we met up as a group and decided that we should all do some research on our project topic. So far I have looked up and found out that there is at least one app out there like the one we want to do. The big difference I can see that we could do is make ours able to have a social way of using it. Today and this weekend I plan on doing more research towards using the android platform.